Hello, Dallas!

We're thrilled you get a chance to see Traditional Home come to life

Thank you to the Dallas-Forth Worth community for the Texas-style hospitality you've shown during the making of this important showhouse.

In return, I warmly welcome you to experience Traditional Home magazine come to life! We all love to pore over glossy magazine pages, and you get to experience them in 360-degree fashion. As you examine every detail in person, note the rush of excitement as you move through a room. Walk around where magazine spreads can't take you! Then go back to the rooms that made you swoon. Like flipping back through printed pages, you'll notice more: gorgeous furniture, mesmerizing wood grains, glistening fixtures, impeccable craftsmanship, beguiling colors, pulse-racing patterns, dreamy storage, and enchanting entertaining areas.

As you do, you'll know why we partnered with Paul and Donna Moss. Texas has a bevy of design talent, designer showrooms, and booming resources for top-notch shops and galleries. Frankly, it was about time we came to Texas! Also, we love to see how designers use the products and materials from our sponsors and partners. Each room has a story, a philosophy behind how it came together, and inspiring takeaways. Truly, the thrill of a showhouse never ceases, even for us showhouse veterans.

We partnered with the Mosses to benefit the Alzheimer's Association of North-Central Texas. This one is personal. Two years ago, I lost my mother to the long-term effects of dementia. With that experience in common, the Moss family and my family share a drive to make a difficult road easier for other families and find a cure for this heart-breaking disease.

In this house, design is meaningful, the partnerships are meaningful, and the good that comes out of it is meaningful. Traditional Home magazine is thankful for all expressions of support. Enjoy your tour!

Sending a Texas-size Welcome

A message from the 2017 Designer Showhouse Builder & Hosts

On behalf of the entire Dallas and Fort Worth design community, the 24 incredibly talented designers and architects from all around the U.S., and over 40 sponsors who provided top-notch products and materials, along with outstanding service, we invite you to tour the 8,000-square-foot, five-bedroom, six-bath showhouse gracing 1.5 acres that will become the home of a Texas family.

We are honored to have partnered with Traditional Home to shine a national spotlight on the exceptional work of all involved and to bring attention to the city of Southlake. We reside in the great state of Texas, and it is where we designed and built our first homes back in the mid-1980s. We have a deep affection for this region and for this project to benefit an organization that touches so many.

We built and designed this house to raise both funds and awareness for the Alzheimer's Association. The work of this incredible organization is very important to us—Paul's mom, Clara Moss, was suffering from the disease as the project got under way and ultimately succumbed to it.

And ours is just one of the many families affected by Alzheimer's. It is a dreadful, debilitating disease that brings so much darkness. That's why we are thrilled that this beautiful, light-filled home will play a role in helping to fund research and care. We hope you will consider supporting #ENDALZ in your own way, whether through financial donation, volunteering, or using social media to raise awareness.

Again, thank you to everyone whose unique contribution has made the Dallas Decorators Showhouse an incredible fusion of unrivaled quality and impeccable style. We're excited to see you in Southlake.

Teaming Up to Fight Alzheimer's

Thanks to participants and guests from the Alzheimer's Association

alzheimer's association®

Dear Friends,

The invitation to partner with Traditional Home magazine and Donna and Paul Moss has presented the Alzheimer's Association with an exceptional opportunity. We are excited about the possibilities of this first showhouse in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. The Dallas Decorators Showhouse in Southlake will provide us with an extraordinary gift from the builder, designers, and Realtor as they come together to support us. We are grateful to have these friends who understand the importance of our work. We are delighted about the visibility the showhouse will bring to our cause and to local programs that will allow more individuals in our community to connect with the resources of the Alzheimer's Association.

This partnership will provide an exceedingly generous level of financial support and public awareness for our mission. We are grateful to receive this help toward the vital work we do in fighting Alzheimer's disease, both on the research front and in terms of the local services we provide to those who are dealing with this disease every day. These funds will help pay for research and advocacy efforts on the state and national levels. They also will help ensure the continued local availability of an array of information, education, support programs, and services.

We extend our sincere gratitude and congratulate all who are associated with this tremendous endeavor. We look forward to this event and hope to partner with the showhouse for many years to come.

Warm regards,

Theresa Hocker

FRENCH CURVES

VERY SQUARE

STYLE MADE EASY BY DESIGN

Metrie enlisted the help of top interior designers to take the guesswork out of coordinating foundational and decorative mouldings and trims.

FIT: Moulding elements within each Collection have been meticulously designed, so every joint and reveal is seamless

PROPORTION: Each Collection includes a range of sizes to complement proportions in any home

CHOICE: Coordinated trim styles within each Collection make it easy to select the pieces needed without making style mistakes

It's all in the trim

If jewelry and accessories make an outfit, then moulding and trim are the keys to making a statement in your home. In fact, beyond adding dimension and a professional finish, adding moulding and trim can actually increase the value of your home. And the return on this simple upgrade can be double or triple the initial investment.

Many homeowners are looking for simple ways to make a big impact without a huge upfront cost. Metrie's Then & Now Finishing Collections™—with five to choose from—are inspired by different architectural styles. The Finishing Collections are carefully designed to blend with the most up-to-date decorating styles and trends—just like our favorite accessories.

FRENCH CURVES

Inspired by sculptural curves or classic forms of the Baroque period? Explore the French Curves Finishing Collection. The elements lean toward formal and ornate but can be taken in modern directions. For example, a simple whitewash can read Shabby Chic or Parisian Flea Market. Darker shades can lean more towards contemporary French Country.

VERY SQUARE

If you're drawn to strong, crisp lines and precise geometry, Very Square's Art Deco-meets-Asian Zen vibe infuses polish into any space. Finish it with clean white paint and go West Coast Contemporary. Stain it a light matte and bring out the minimalist. Use today's hottest paint color and take it to the Urban Edge. Very Square is a great foundation on which to layer the most contemporary styles.

Carolina V Gentry and Beth Dotolo

PULP DESIGN STUDIOS | DALLAS + SEATTLE

Carolina V Gentry and Beth Dotolo of Pulp Design Studios set out to create an entry with impact. "We wanted a bold space that invites guests to feel excited, energetic, and daring," Dotolo says. "We imagined a well-traveled and adventurous homeowner perched on her chaise welcoming guests as they arrive for her party." Bold grass-cloth wallcovering sets the tone for the entry vestibule and double-volume staircase. Layers of pattern, like the custom chaise with jewel-tone fabric and the leopard print on bone-inlay benches, lend a touch of maximalism, while gilded light fixtures serve as jewelry for the room. Artwork brings a collected, gallery feel. "Texans tend to go big," Dotolo says. "Our entry embodies the true Texas spirit through the stylistic Pulp filter." Pulp, recognized for a modern and livable approach to design, offers full-service interior design and a home product line, with offices in Dallas and Seattle.

> "THE ENTRY OF THE HOME SHOULD CREATE A HAPPY HELLO. IT TELLS YOUR GUESTS WHO YOU ARE AND SETS THE MOOD FOR HOW TO FEEL AS YOU PROGRESS THROUGH THE HOME."

Family Room and Hall

Clair Tompkins and Julie Lloyd

TOMPKINS LLOYD INTERIORS | DALLAS

The family room and hall's airy aura influenced Clair Tompkins' and Julie Lloyd's design. "The tall ceilings and open clerestory with pool views set the tone for the refined, elegant mood," she says. A neutral palette is punctuated by reflective details. "Instead of color pops, minerals, metallic touches, and geometric paper bring the wow factor," Tompkins says. Plush black velvet sofas juxtapose the acrylic table and brass accents. A masculine coffee table is countered by Lucrecia Waggoner's light, feminine artwork in the niches. The area rug from The Rug Company played a key role in the room's inception. "From there, we worked with Scout Design Studio and found the dining table and chairs," Tompkins says. A former fashion designer, she appreciates natural materials, unexpected elements, and the art of mixing modern minimalism with eclectic luxuries.

"WE LOVE THAT TEXANS AREN'T AFRAID OF BIG, BOLD DESIGN!"

Donna Moss with Kimberly Schlegel Whitman

DONNA MOSS DESIGNS & HALO HOME BY KSW | DALLAS

The hierarchy of design importance within a house has been shattered. Exterior spaces can hold their own against their interior cousins. Case in point: Donna Moss' chic loggia space that cooks up refined preparation stations and a custom dining table suited for a memorable meal. "It reflects a sexy, modern Texas lifestyle that is quite different from what we typically see in indoor formal kitchen and dining areas," she says. Moss, whose larger-than-life personality brought spirit to television on her show Donna Decorates Dallas, weaves that same glamour and sass into the spaces she designs. In the loggia, she poised the contemporary table for a beautiful tablescape. Enter Kimberly Schlegel Whitman, author, public speaker, and lifestyle maven, who partnered with Moss to design the tablescape. "I love everything monogrammed," Whitman says. "I incorporated monogrammed dinnerware and fringed linens based on the iridescent tiles around the pool—blues, silver, and pops of green." And when Whitman says she loves monograms, she's not lying. Monograms for the Home: The Art of Making Your Mark is the seventh book that she has written, with an eighth due to be published in 2018.

"THE MORE YOU ENTERTAIN, THE EASIER IT BECOMES."

Kara Cox

KARA COX INTERIORS | GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

As she shaped a dining room that would be equally adept at handling a formal dinner party or a casual family breakfast, Kara Cox married the aesthetic of old Dallas tradition with today's modern lifestyle. "My interiors always marry old and new," she says. "Traditional styling softens the modern architecture of a room." Thus, she countered this room's hard surfaces with a rich antique Oushak rug and a traditional skirted table, juxtaposing those timeless elements against edgy blush leather on chairs and black dinnerware on the tabletop. "Nature is my favorite place to look for inspiration," Cox says. "This room was led by colors found on a beach walk—the blush pink of a seashell, dove gray of a bird's feather, sandy taupes, the stark white of a beach flower, and matte black from an aged oyster shell." Cox, who began her career in the fashion industry, worked for one of North Carolina's top design firms, Lindsay Henderson Interiors, before starting her own business in 2010.

Sherry Hayslip

SHERRY HAYSLIP INTERIORS | DALLAS

Inspired by her travels, Sherry Hayslip sought to design a getaway filled with echoes of faraway places, a comfortable place to enjoy the great outdoors. "Perfect for entertaining guests, having a private serene moment, or playing games with the family, this space allows you to do it all," Hayslip says. The materials and colors of the house and its setting served as the starting point for her palette, which Hayslip spiked with black and vivid tropical shades of orange, blue, purple, pink, and green. One-of-a-kind pieces, including a hand-forged console and occasional table, help bring the space to life. Insects add whimsy, appearing on embroidered fabric, dragonfly napkin rings, and quite literally flying overhead. An award-winning designer based in Dallas, Hayslip has clients worldwide, while her retail store, Luxurease, is home to items she has hand-selected throughout her travels.

"I WANTED TO CREATE AN OUTDOOR OASIS—A SPACE WHERE YOU COULD KICK YOUR FEET UP, HAVE A GLASS OF ICED TEA (OR A JOHN DALY), LISTEN TO BIRDS CHIRPING, AND LOOK UP AND SEE BUTTERFLIES FLYING OVERHEAD."

Troy Rhone

TROY RHONE GARDEN DESIGN | BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA + ATLANTA

"With the deck being so large, I looked for ways to soften the area," Troy Rhone says of his pool area design. Brown hues and pops of orange add warmth to the gray flooring. "Furniture from Woodard adds playfulness to the contemporary nature of the pool," he says. For the overall landscaping, Rhone stuck to flora in white and shades of green. "You can never go wrong with green and white. It works in all situations," he says. Based in Birmingham, Alabama, and Atlanta, Troy Rhone Garden Design specializes in creating refreshing outdoor spaces that are extensions of interiors. His interest and passion for beautiful gardens took root as a child raised in a family of artists, gardeners, and writers.

Donna Moss

DONNA MOSS DESIGNS | DALLAS

Because kitchens take center stage in today's homes, Donna Moss was inspired to create a layout that would make this space welcoming and functional. Her design includes both a main kitchen—with a spacious 12-foot island—and a prep kitchen. "You can work in one space and play in the other," says Moss, who is both a builder of the home and one of the designers. "I was sparked by my love of timeless design with a touch of glamorous Old Hollywood, Art Deco style," she says. "I wanted to create a fabulous melting pot of design with a tasteful, modern mix of sleek, shiny surfaces paired with the classic luxury of our custom Clive Christian cabinets." For her palette, Moss gave a nod to the showhouse charity, the Alzheimer's Association, and its official color, purple. "Fortunately for me, one of our sponsors, Cosentino, has a line of semiprecious stone slabs in amethyst," says Moss, who used the slab as a backlit feature on the front of the island. Custom chandeliers frame an Art Deco-style mantelpiece over the cooktop.

"WHEN I AM DESIGNING A ROOM, MY GOAL IS TO MAKE IT SO INTERESTING THAT YOUR EYES DANCE AROUND THE ROOM LIKE A BALLERINA."

Mudroom, Vestibule, and Powder Room

Scot Meacham Wood

SCOT MEACHAM WOOD DESIGN | SAN FRANCISCO

As he designed a series of three rooms for the showhouse, Scot Meacham Wood wanted the spaces—a powder room, vestibule, and mudroom—to look dramatic and engaging on their own while also fitting together as a group. “The goal was color, contrast, and drama,” Wood says. “And at SMW Design, we love a dramatic, sexy room.” To up the drama quotient, Wood called on saturated paint colors and moody tartans. “When working in small, windowless rooms, I love the idea of heightening what might be considered as a disadvantage—dark and windowless—and using it as an asset,” the designer says. “So we went with dark paint and dark tartan wallcoverings, all punched up with amazing artwork and accessories.” The tartan wallpapers, used in both the mudroom and powder room, are part of SMW’s new collection, as is “Victoria Botanical.” The linen botanicals are making their debut in the vestibule, a space tented in almost 50 yards of fabric to feel like a secret garden in the midst of the house. Wood, who established his interiors firm in 2002, has made a national impact by creating fresh yet timeless interiors that reflect clients’ personal aesthetics.

Laundry Room

Krissa Rossbund

TRADITIONAL HOME MAGAZINE

"These boots are made for washin'." Confident Texas attitude is what Traditional Home Senior Style Editor Krissa Rossbund imagined in the laundry, where the user would no doubt be sporting a pair of chic cowboy boots while separating rugged denim from whites. Keeping with the gray neutral that's woven throughout the house, Rossbund selected a printed grass-cloth wallcovering with an inverted triangle pattern to add contemporary pizzazz. Streamlined painted-gray cabinetry gets a touch of handsome flair with carbon-fiber hardware, while a flower-shape pendant softens the hard edges. "Laundry should be organized and stylish," says Rossbund, who notes that over her two-decade tenure at Traditional Home, design emphasis has shifted from public spaces of the house to small, task-driven rooms such as closets, dressing rooms, and laundry rooms. "Laundry rooms are where you care for clothing that's been a big investment."

Dann Foley

DANN INC. | PALM SPRINGS, CALIFORNIA

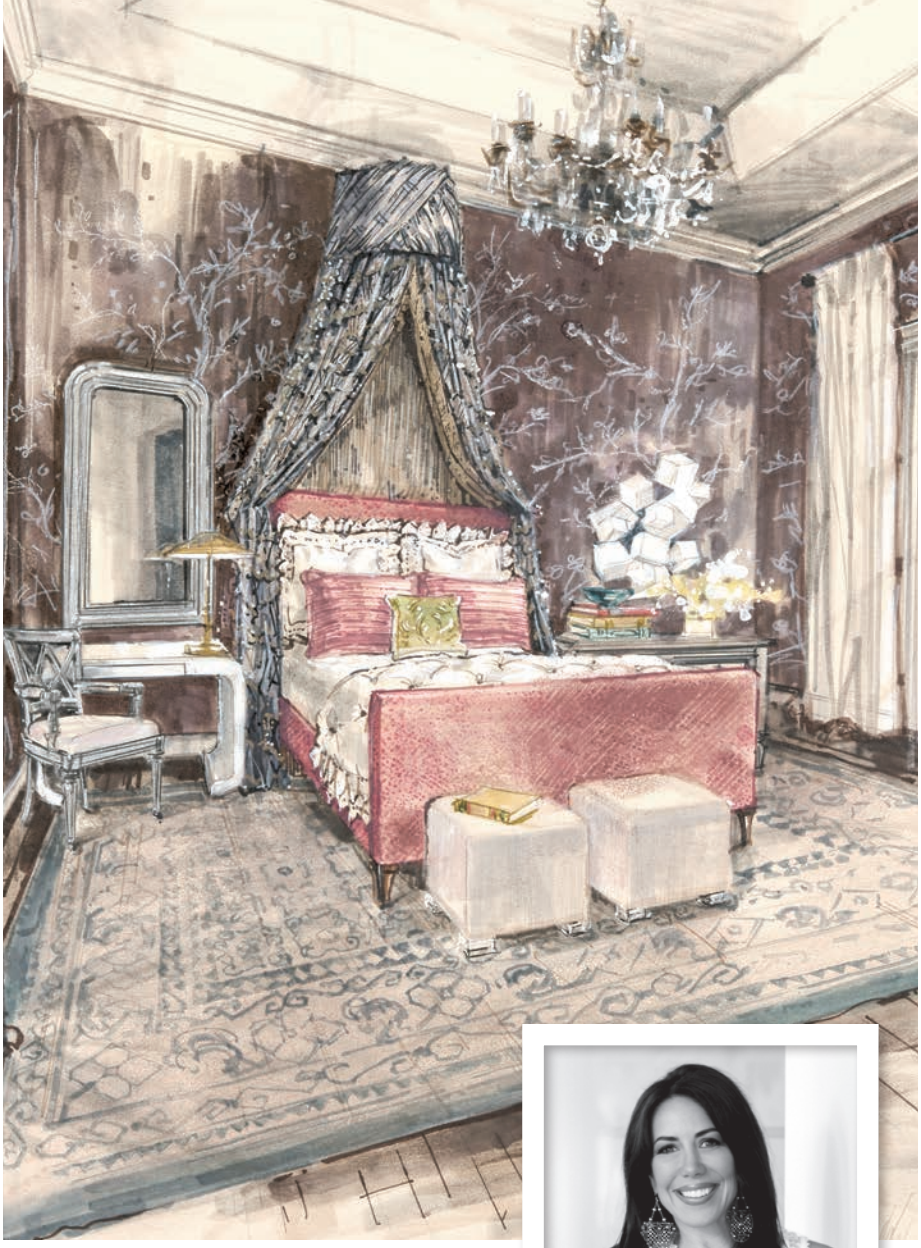

Many hallways are merely innocuous passageways, but Dann Foley wanted this space, a major crossway to public spaces on the main floor of the house, to create a moment that compels you to stop and look. An antique Japanese wood-block print was Foley's jumping-off point for his design. He had the print enlarged to a 16x9-foot mural for the long gallery wall. "It's both commanding and haunting," Foley says. "Its scale and palette set the tone for the rest of the space." As a background for his chosen pieces, Foley used ivory walls in the vestibule, then created contrast with his second neutral, a moody "wet cement" paint on the gallery walls. "I don't believe that art can only thrive on white walls," he says. In addition to the striking mural, Foley displayed a wall sculpture and included a presentation table, which serves as a pedestal for a palace-size blue-and-white vase. Foley, founder of Dann Inc., has spent the past 25 years serving clients in the U.S., Canada, Europe, and Asia.

Julie Dodson

DODSON INTERIORS | HOUSTON

"It's a jewel box of a room that offers both luxury and comfort," Julie Dodson says of her guest suite design. The Evitavonni fabric—available at George Cameron Nash showrooms in Dallas and Houston—served as inspiration for the retreat. "The palette is a combination of soft warm tones with grays and whites for cool crispness and freshness," she says. Dodson especially loves the Gracie wallcovering and the headboard upholstered in Fortuny fabric. Architectural fragments and pops of color serve as signature touches for the Houston-based interior designer and New Trad alumna. What Dodson loves most about Texas culture is "the people are hospitable and generous without being ostentatious. It's what makes Texas a great state."

"DESIGN IS A COMBINATION OF VISION AND ARTISTRY, CREATING A MIX OF TEXTURE, COLOR, AND WHIMSY WITH THE GOAL OF ACHIEVING HARMONY IN A UNIQUE SPACE."

Amy Berry

AMY BERRY DESIGN | DALLAS

Rather than go the predictable masculine route for the study, Amy Berry created a space for the lady of the house. “The room has such nice views,” she says, “so it also was somewhat garden-inspired. Bunny Mellon has always been a huge point of inspiration for me, and the treillage around the fireplace is a nod to that.” Berry designed the space as a quiet room where you might read a book or have a couple of friends over for a drink. “Mostly though, we wanted the space to be both happy and serene,” she says. “Hence all the blues and greens.” Along with the Scalamandré “Ascot Linen” she used on curtains as the base for her palette, Berry also has special fondness for the artwork over the fireplace, created by her friend Catherine Booker Jones and the “to-die-for” antique desk provided by Coco & Dash. Berry, known for her blending of modern and European elements, attended London’s Inchbald School of Design before opening her design firm in 2013.

Front Courtyard

Tiffany McKinzie

TIFFANY McKINZIE INTERIOR DESIGN, INC. | DALLAS

As she designed the front courtyard, Tiffany McKinzie wanted to create a comfortable and inviting environment that blended naturally with the outdoors. "The location lends itself to an intimate atmosphere where homeowners can casually relax fireside or entertain their closest friends and family in a cozy, uplifting environment," McKinzie says. To mesh with the setting, the designer chose a harmonious palette of nature's colors in hues of emerald, blue, and yellow. For comfort, McKinzie included thick box floor cushions in myriad colorful Perennials fabrics for guests to plop on the floor and have a seat. McKinzie, founder of Tiffany McKinzie Interior Design, Inc., has been an active member of the design community since 2002, working on more than 200 high-end residential new construction and renovation projects in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, along with projects in Oklahoma, Colorado, and California. She has been voted to D Magazine's "Best Designers in Dallas" each year since 2010 and is on the board of several design panels in the Dallas area.

Shay Geyer

IBB DESIGN | FRISCO, TEXAS

"I wanted to create a luxurious master retreat with a modern influence that appealed to both masculine and feminine senses," Shay Geyer says of her design. "I chose a neutral palette that would allow the space to be restful and layered in bold patterns and textures to create impact." Fabrics by Robert Allen were her jumping-off point for a palette of onyx, ivory, and cement hues with pops of saffron. "The upholstered wall behind the bed is my favorite design element," Geyer says. The pattern creates a dramatic backdrop for the black cerused-wood canopy bed from Century Furniture, while a Kelly Wearstler chandelier from Circa Lighting elevates the space with a luxurious touch of modern glam. Geyer has design in her DNA, growing up learning from her mother, Beth Rafferty, founder of IBB Design Fine Furnishings. Designing professionally since 2001, Geyer finds inspiration in travel, the arts, family, and friends. She is currently working on product development for home furnishings and accessories with several collections launching this year.

A pair of sculptural pillar fountains from Elegant Earth emit soothing white noise. Lush, winding greenery lends softness to the private escape. "My goal was to create an intangible experience in a natural environment that brings together organic balance and good energy," she says. Elle Cole Interiors, Inc., is located in Dallas. ## Krissa Rossbund

Design inspiration drawn from a trip to Paris is by no means anything new. But set the storied architecture, intimate bridges, and impeccable taste in fashion aside. During a visit to the Maison et Objet design fair, Traditional Home Senior Style Editor Krissa Rossbund discovered a fledgling company that struck a chord as something the magazine's engaged and loyal readers would adore. And she knows those savvy readers well, as a veteran of the magazine where she started her career as an intern. "Strolling through the trade show aisles looking at so many things that are well-designed and beautiful is the easy part," Rossbund says. "It's whittling those down to a handful of the very best that's a challenge." Enter the Florida-based Nicolette Mayer Collection, an artful assembly of grand patterns printed on sheer linen and grass-cloth wallpaper destined to entertain and delight. In the master bathroom, Rossbund knew that one pattern in particular, "Blossom Fantasia," with its airy flowers and birds, would soften the space's sleek contemporary feel. But that was just enough. The generously sized bathroom, with adjunct water closet and vanity spaces returned to its contemporary roots with clean-lined silhouettes and lots of silver finishes.

Master Suite–His & Her Closets

California Closets

MICHELE ROBERTS, DESIGN CONSULTANT | DALLAS

A glamorous chandelier that's as fashionable as the wardrobe it lights. Check. Comfy seating to make getting dressed easier. Check. A full-length mirror that allows a final peek before heading out the door. Check. Michele Roberts, who has spent more than 20 years helping California Closets clients go from clutter and chaos to calm, knows a thing or two about outfitting a closet. "The closet is the room that you visit at least twice a day," Roberts says. "To have a space that is functional, organized, and protects the investment of your wardrobe makes each day a bit more peaceful." In "her" master closet, cabinetry and shelving from California Closets' Italian collection was configured with spaces for hanging garments, a jewelry station, nooks for highlighting handbags, and custom shelving for shoes. Lace-like frosted glass facades and crystal-studded hardware maximize the glamorous personality. Brooks Brothers took cues from the mover-and-shaker vibe of both closets to fill the custom cabinetry with classic apparel with a modern attitude. "A well-organized closet isn't just about looking good," explains Allyson Resendez, manager of the Southlake Brooks Brothers store. "It saves time and money if organized correctly. It eliminates buying duplicates of certain garments and minimizes the decision-making about what to wear.

> "CLOSETS USED TO BE SECONDARY SPACES WITH LITTLE ATTENTION. NOW, WE WANT THEM TO BE A STYLISH AS THE OTHER SPOTS IN OUR HOUSE."

Blue Print

DALLAS

"We see design going back to being a little more traditional, so we wanted to bring that to the landing and hallway," says Kate Elpers of Blue Print. "Art makes or breaks a room, and it raises the bar for the rest of the space," she says. "Custom fabric can also be a game changer and set you apart." The color and scale of the celadon fabric lends softness while bringing the outdoors in. "We wanted the landing to be inviting enough for someone to sit down and take a break when running from here and there," Elpers says. Founded by five interior designers in 2010, Blue Print is a furniture boutique offering a wide array of high-end antiques, modern light fixtures, art, and accessories to help designers and design lovers create beautiful one-of-a-kind spaces.

Nancy Price

NANCY PRICE INTERIOR DESIGN, INC. | JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI

The uniqueness of this space, retrieved from the outside vestibule and not originally intended as an interior space, gave Nancy Price her inspiration. "Immediately, I thought of a jewel box holding the homeowners' treasures," Price says. "I wanted this room to offer an escape from the more public spaces of the home. I envisioned it being filled with the clients' collection of books and objects special to them." To create a canvas, Price called on a simple palette of black, white, and gold. "It is timeless yet at the same time fresh and new," she says. "Color is introduced in the form of original artwork. The fragment art pieces play a key role in the overall design by creating visual contrast between raw materials and more refined materials." Originally from Louisiana, Price has practiced interior design in Jackson, Mississippi, for more than 20 years and also has been a partner in her husband John's design-build firm. In addition, she is utilizing her signature style to grow her brand, a curated collection of antique and one-of-a-kind pieces of wearable art known as Aura, which can be seen in her studio and in design showrooms from Atlanta to California.

"INTERIOR DESIGN IS MUCH MORE THAN SIMPLY THE PRACTICE OF CREATING BEAUTIFUL ENVIRONMENTS. IT IS ABOUT THE PASSION, ENTHUSIASM, AND DEDICATION WE FEEL FOR EACH AND EVERY PROJECT AND THE RELATIONSHIPS WE DEVELOP WITH EACH AND EVERY PERSON INVOLVED IN THE PROCESS."

Michelle Workman

MICHELLE WORKMAN INTERIORS | CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE

Michelle Workman had one goal in mind as she designed this bedroom: Southern hospitality. “I wanted to create a soothing oasis as a guest bedroom, the place that your friends would always want to spend the night,” says Workman, who drew inspiration from a Lone Star State design icon. “When I think of design in Texas, I think of Jan Showers,” Workman says, “although this is slightly more color-saturated than her signature look, which makes it more me.” Workman called on a light and airy palette of pale blues with peach and pops of fuchsia to create a sense of excitement. A bed from the designer’s new collection with French Heritage serves as the room’s focal point. “With the vaulted ceiling, I felt I needed to draw your attention up,” Workman says. “I also love the drama of a curtained bed. So I went with the half-tester and curtains enveloping the headboard.” Born in Los Angeles, Workman has designed high-end spaces from West Coast to East Coast and, most recently, in the South.

Ruthie Staalsen

RUTHIE STAALSEN INTERIORS | DALLAS

Playing off the beautiful natural light that floods the upstairs hallway, Ruthie Staalsen sought to shape a space that’s colorful and fresh. “I wanted the hallway to feel like you are transplanted into a giant painting full of color and texture,” the designer says. “Because I was born and raised in South Africa, I felt the space needed a bit of an ethnic vibe, bringing in the natural elements that I grew up with. I also wanted it to have a collected feel, making it feel lived in and personal.” To accomplish her goal, Staalsen called on a palette that’s moody, colorful, soulful, rich, and vibrant. It works in perfect harmony with the designer’s favorite detail in the space, a wallcovering by American abstract artist Carol Benson-Cobb, known for her large-scale paintings and textiles.

Phara Queen

PHARA QUEEN DESIGN | OKLAHOMA CITY

"I didn't want to just plop a bed in there and call it good," Phara Queen says of her design for this bedroom. "I decided to make it a space where the homeowner could hang out and have morning coffee or read—but also have enough seating that her team could work." A wallpaper, which this creative dynamo used on the ceiling, launched her design. "I wanted something graphic yet feminine," Queen says. "I also love that it has a metallic gold background, which pulls from the countertop that's in the adjoining bathroom." The paper set the stage for edgy, graphic, feminine colors and lines highlighted with black and gold. In addition to the wallpaper, Queen especially loves the room's table, with its graphic black and white lines and textured brass base, and the custom artwork by Aubree Bunch. "She's one of my favorite artists in Oklahoma," the designer says. "So good." Queen, a finalist in HGTV's Faces of Design, is best known for her expertise in seamlessly mixing patterns, textures, and styles. Her approach has attracted clients from across the country, including Miranda Lambert, Blake Shelton, and Gwen Stefani.

Traci Zeller

TRACI ZELLER DESIGNS | CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA

With thoughts of merging the latest in French fashion with the timelessness of nature, Traci Zeller created this intriguing bedroom. "I was inspired by Of Rare Origin's aviary earrings, the luxury box artwork of Stephen Wilson, and French haute couture," the designer says. "I love how Parisian couturiers translate the timeless themes of birds and flowers into modern fashion for today's woman, and I sought to do the same here." Employing traditional silhouettes and patterns in a modern, fashion-forward way, Zeller worked from a black, white, and green palette in shades that range from jade to loden, accented by hints of flax and gold. Her favorite elements include the Wilson art piece over the dresser, a one-of-a-kind creation. "He uses the packaging employed by couture houses as his base, and through embroidery, laser-cutting, and appliqué techniques, creates a unique piece of art," Zeller says. One of the South's most celebrated design tastemakers, she shapes chic interiors for modern life using style, quality, and stewardship as the cornerstones for each of her projects.

Denise McGaha

DENISE McGAHA INTERIORS | DALLAS

"I was inspired to create a room where the entire family could spend time together having fun, a multiuse place for games, TV watching, lounging, and entertaining with friends," Denise McGaha says. The warm caramel color of dried sago palm leaves in a photograph by artist Kelly O'Neal was the jumping-off point for a palette of icy blues, warm caramels, and crisp whites. "I wanted to show that a game room could be so much more than just a room that houses a pool table," McGaha says. To outfit the elegant lounge, she designed custom wallpaper and fabrics (used for the window coverings) that are part of an upcoming collection with Design Legacy. The custom snake handles on the closet doors make a statement as well, while the acrylic game table in the corner of the room is perfect for a quick game of backgammon or a plate of hors d'oeuvres. McGaha, a Dallas-based designer, delivers fashionable, diverse, and adventurous designs for clients who live on the fast track. She honed her well-trained eye at luxury retailer Neiman Marcus, where she served as an integral part of the team that launched neimanmarcus.com.
